Wednesday 13 November 2024 – 13:30-13:30

Grief is something we will all experience at some stage in our lives, and we never know when bereavement will strike. When it does, it can affect us all in very different, unexpected ways. Navigating it in our workplaces can be a real challenge for both managers and staff, which can lead to feelings of helplessness.

This series of webinars has been designed and delivered by our expert Helen McMenamin.
